SL PARTNERS

Patrick Houlahan is a former Marine F/A-18 Hornet Fighter Pilot and grew up in Charlotte, NC, Jackson, MS, and Leawood, KS. He is a graduate of The Citadel and Distinguished Graduate from the U.S. Army War College earning his Master's in Strategic Studies.

Patrick accepted a commission in the United States Marine Corps and spent a combined 27 years on active duty and in the reserves. He rose to the rank of Colonel, was Instructor Pilot of the Year in the F/A-18 Hornet, and graduated from the United States Fighter Weapons School – TOPGUN and also served as Reserve Chief of Staff.

Patrick started his speaking and consulting career after leaving active duty. He was the Director of Seminars - MPI speaker of the year, and has led over 500 keynotes, breakouts, and workshops from Enterprise business to individual teams.

Patrick has built Organizational Processes of Record for many Fortune 500 companies that have included strategic shifts down to tactical initiatives. Focusing on driving organizational growth through standardizing the mindset and skillset he has cultivated over three decades.

He is passionate about teaching-the-teachers and driving measurable growth. Driving change directly through Tools, Techniques and Procedures learned as an Officer in the Marine Corps and customizing them for the business world through decades of real world experience.

SL PARTNERS

Get in Touch
(858) 663-3773

patrick@slpartners.llc
www.slpartners.llc